

Wimpey Homes Case Study

With one of the biggest names in the UK homebuilding industry, few people will need any introduction to the name Wimpey Homes. It is somewhat less well known, however, that Kingstone & Mortars Ltd supply their silo mortar to a number of Wimpey sites throughout Scotland.

Stephen Laurie (SMA) (ICIOB), Senior Site Manager,

George Wimpey West Scotland quotes –

“Kingstone began supplying silo mixed mortar to George Wimpey West Scotland in early 2004 Fernlea development in Irvine.

As always with a new supplier product quality and service are under scrutiny, however any doubts were quickly dispelled after an informative tour of their offices and production facility. Davie McClelland and the team at Kingstone supplied a quality product backed by a high level of customer care and professionalism.

A supplier willing to listen to their customers and adjust the product to suit on site requirements is invaluable. Kingstone, became an important member of an award winning team and were one of the first supplier contracts to be confirmed at our new development at Beechcroft, Dalry due to their consistently high standard of service and product quality.

I look forward to a long and prosperous working relationship.”
